

Job opportunity offers training and the ability to start home-based business in Baumholder

Have you ever thought of starting your own home-based business? Imagine if someone offered you all the training you need and it applied to college credit too. If you love children and want to work from home, you may want to look into what it takes to become certified as a Family Child Care provider. This is an excellent opportunity to start your own business here in Baumholder. Beginning FCC providers who start with no more than two children can earn from $20,000 to $40,000 a year.

Hildegard Bragg, FCC director, is looking for new FCC providers to create childcare environments in their own home. It is an excellent opportunity for spouses with their own children who want to work, but are restricted to staying at home because of their own childcare needs. It is also important to know that you don't have to be a parent to become an FCC provider. If you enjoy working with children and are willing to work from home, this is a job for you.

Spending the formative years with your children is one reason why spouses choose to stay at home and don't work. This is your opportunity to create a career, along with being able to watch your children grow. The FCC program allows parents of ages 6 weeks to 12 years flexible care options based on their family's needs. Providers offer fulltime, part-time, hourly, overnight, and special needs care.

We all know that childcare costs can add up for a family and restrict parents from doing many of their favorite recreational activities. Becoming an FCC provider is a way for your children to meet new playmates while you conduct a business. You are essentially getting paid to have your children learn key social skills in an individual environment.

FCC providers are not exclusive on post living. If you live in one of the surrounding communities you are also welcome to become a provider. The program will help you to turn your home into a childcare environment. You are provided with child size tables, chairs, mats, and more. You aren't changing your home; you're rearranging it.

It is important to find career opportunities that can transfer across the globe. Your training allows you to continue to work when you PCS. Not only are you jump-starting your career, you are learning skills and education that can lead to your own business.

After the extensive training program that certifies you in CPR and first aid, FCC providers have the opportunity to take free educational programming offered by the Army. Opportunities can lead to a Child Development Associate (CDA) or Home Accreditation (NAFCC). The Army is willing to pay to further benefit your life.

To apply call Hildegard Bragg, FCC Director, at mil 485-6588 civ (06783) 6-6588 or come by the Dispensary CDC, second floor. Orientation is ongoing. Call now and start your career today.

Benefits and more

Becoming an FCC provider is open to those who live on and off post. It is a great job for stay-at-home-parents and new spouses to the Baumholder community who are looking for work. It is not required to be a parent to be an FCC provider. The program will provide you with all of the skills and tools to start up your own home childcare.

Benefits include training, certification and college credit. Training is extensive and certifies you in CPR, First Aid, and more. Opportunities can lead to a Child Development Associate (CDA) or Home Accreditation (NAFCC) for free.

Family Child Care Providers take care of a maximum of six children between the ages 6 weeks to 12 years in a small group environment. FCC Providers are visited unannounced by the FCC Director monthly and other inspection teams such as Health, Fire and Safety to ensure the program is running according to regulation. Each provider attends six days of training at Child Youth School Services that covers Child Growth and Development, Guidance, Child Abuse, Food Handler, First Aid and CPR. FCC providers offer Full-time and Part-time care, Hourly, Respite care, extended care in the evenings and on weekends.

If you are at least 18 years of age and live a stable, responsible life, you may qualify to start your own business. Interested applicants can contact Hildegard Bragg, FCC director, at fcc.director@eur.army.mil, or call mil 485-6588/ civ (06783) 6-6588. Office is located in the Dispensary Kaserene, second floor. Orientation is ongoing. Call now and start your career today.